Boyd's Choice Roses . . .

It can truly be said that a garden is not complete unless there is a bed of roses. It is very important that the soil is worked up and in good condition before the planting of the bushes. The ground should be worked up as you would in an onion bed; for best results plant roses where the ground is well drained, on level ground is all right, but do not plant these in a place where water stands for long at a time.

Broadleaf Evergreens

Coniferous Evergreens . . .

The question has been asked, "What is the most beautiful class of plants?" There is not a plant more beautiful than the well-grown evergreens. Evergreens have so many uses, too numerous to mention. Some evergreens are dwarf, some tall; colors, green, golden yellow, bluish and various colors, just the thing to make an attractive planting.

Forest Tree Seedlings . . .

Federal and State Governments have become alarmed over the waste of our natural resources. We are fearful that but little can be accomplished without the awakening of private land owners to this dreadful destruction that is confronting our children.

If you have an idle field that has been worn out, then just try a few thousand of our tree seedlings and be convinced that it is not as expensive an undertaking as you might think. Such a move not only is patriotic, but also will yield an income on the value of your property.

HOW TO PLANT

If you want trees, plants, and vines to live
FOLLOW INSTRUCTIONS

When you have unwrapped the package put the roots in water until ready to plant; DO NOT ALLOW THE AIR TO STRIKE THE ROOTS, as this will dry them out very quickly.

If you are not ready to plant, set the roots in a trench, water well and cover with soil until convenient planting time.

No matter what size or type of plant you are getting it is quite important that the soil be properly prepared to receive it. Large areas may be plowed, smaller plots can be forked or dug and single holes can be dug for individual plants; in any case mix a little good fertilizer with the well pulverized soil before planting.

Don't be afraid to make the hole a little bigger than necessary and allow the roots to spread out instead of being bunched in a space too small for them. Water if the ground is dry, pull the soil around the small trunk and then next day tamp the soil firmly with your foot. Plant each tree or shrub just a little deeper than it came out of the nursery.

Boyd's plants are carefully grown, carefully dug and carefully packed; every plant should live if given a good start in its new home.

Transplanting can be successfully done either spring or fall when the ground is damp and the weather is not too hot and dry.

PLANT—Forest Tree Seedlings for Profit, Shade and Beauty

Costs Little, Pays Well in Shade and Timber

REFORESTATION: This is your opportunity to turn waste land into a yielding profit. Gullies that look beyond redemption can be completely restored by the use of Hall's Honeysuckle (Ground Covering). This Honeysuckle vine is being used extensively by railroads to hold steep banks and also the Highway Departments of many states are using them for the same purpose, and found them very satisfactory. Kudzu vine is good for the same purpose and also fine for hay and pastures.
